

DIPLOMA IN MODERN APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY

The background is a light green color. In the center, there is a large, low-poly green shape that resembles a brain. Inside this brain shape, there are three interlocking gears of different sizes. The gears are white with green outlines and centers. The entire image has a geometric, low-poly aesthetic with various green triangles and lines scattered around the central brain shape.

FIXED VS GROWTH MINDSET

FIXED VS GROWTH MINDSET

How are Ideas from the Developmental School relevant in your life?

1. In what areas of your life has having a fixed mindset been costly to you?
2. In what aspects of your life has having a growth mindset served you hugely?
3. Which of your past relationships have been damaged due to your unwillingness to change?
4. In what ways must you develop your personality so to connect better with others?
5. In what ways has not listening well to people damaged your relationships?
6. In which area of your life could you develop one of your intelligences?

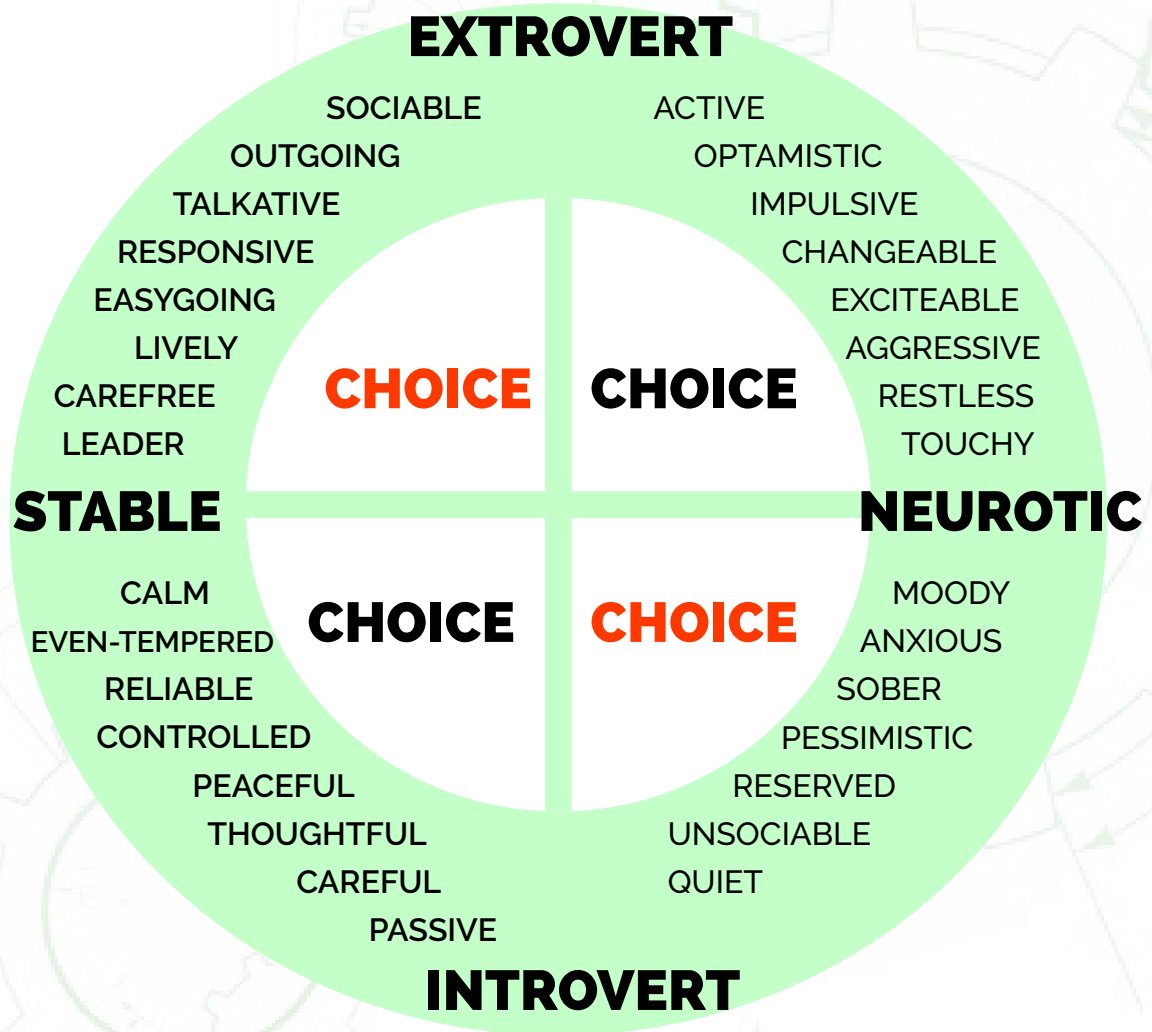

FIXED VS GROWTH MINDSET

7. In what areas of your life are you accepting second best because of a fixed mindset?
8. What role does transference play in some of your current day-to-day relationships?
9. If you continue to grow and develop, what level of impact would you like to make in life?
10. If were to STOP growing and just remain the same for the rest of our life, what might Erik Erikson suggest you will experience in your latter stages of psychosocial development?

FIXED VS GROWTH MINDSET

1) Which of these traits are costing you more than you want?

2) Which of these traits can you start developing today?

3) What will happen if you remain as you are and DON'T change anything?
